“These results demonstrate the continuing uptake of AVT's solutions worldwide,” says Shlomo Amir, AVT President and CEO. “We continue to enjoy a high level of multiple and repeat orders. Such sales can provide the impetus for further orders as companies become aware of the quality assurance and waste-saving benefits of our solutions.

“In September, AVT participated in Labelexpo Europe, where it had solutions on four partner stands as well as running on its own booth,” says Shlomo Amir. “In a busy show with extremely high-quality visitors, AVT generated more than 500 leads in four days.

“The ability of the PrintVision/Helios to run on both presses and rewinders continues to enforce AVT's leadership position in the labels industry, while our innovative PrintFlow Manager and WorkFlow Link provide additional layers of control and profit-building information to managers.”
